

Wanderers of the Peak

Thank you for signing up as a 'Wanderer of the Peak'. This short guide should give you all the information you need to get started.

How do I get involved in testing the web app?

There are two ways to help test the web app. You can pick whichever suits you best, or do both.

- Join us at pre-arranged testing events. We'll be exploring together and recording your feedback. We'll send you an email whenever we schedule such an event.
- Try out it on our own or with your friends and family. Go for a walk and see what you discover. Email your feedback back to us at CITL@derbyshire.gov.uk or fill-out the 'in-app' surveys.

How do I become an ambassador for the web app?

It's really simply to be ambassador for the project. Encourage your friends and family to try out the web app, or even to sign up as a 'Wanderer of the Peak' too. You can also reblog/retweet our social media posts and write your own to help spread awareness.

How do I get started?

To access the web app visit www.pocketwonders.co.uk on your mobile device. You will need to turn on your location services and have an internet connection (at least for the first part anyway).

On your first visit you will have to register as a user – but we won't use your email for any reason other than to update you about the web app. There should be a few simple stages and then you'll be able to download your tour and try it out. If things aren't working let us know. It's crucial feedback!

NOTE: As the web app is still in development, some locations might not yet be populated with content. You can visit the link below to find out where content is currently located and plan your walks accordingly.

Staying Safe

Always be aware of your surroundings when testing the web app. Watch out for things like other pedestrians, cars and other vehicles, and any steep/uneven ground.
